

Dear Hatfield Families,

We hope that you enjoyed a restful Spring Break. As online distance learning resumed this week, please remember to keep in touch with teachers and seek support during Office Hours. If you need help accessing/understanding content, we're here to assist; we just need you and/or your child to ask questions and ask for help.

Distance learning is a requirement for all North Penn elementary school students; therefore, attendance is required. The intent is to provide flexible platforms that foster instructional engagement as evident by participation and assignment completion. With this in mind, if a child needs to be absent (for the same reasons in which they would miss a regular school day), please let your child's teacher know and/or leave a voicemail on the Main Office phone number.

As per the district communication last week, "Students will continue to engage in daily lessons in Math, ELA, and Social Studies on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday. Special area lessons in art, library, music, and physical education will be the focus of learning on Wednesdays... Please know that special area teachers will continue to provide optional activities for students on the other days of the week."

Additionally, for our sixth grade families, an e-mail was distributed earlier today regarding how to view and acknowledge Middle School Course Verification Forms in Campus Backpack. The content is also available via Google slides by clicking here: Course Verification Forms.

Lastly, please be sure to click the link to check out the latest edition of Mrs. Bainbridge's Counselor's Corner.

Keep soaring above and beyond,

Wes Heinel
